Performance Beyond Expectation

From the time FlowSense was founded in 2001, our business philosophy has remained consistent: customer satisfaction is more important than short term financial gain. By applying one simple rule¹, we have built strong past performances and earned the respect, and more importantly, repeat business from our clients. So whether our clients seek services in building maintenance, construction improvement, or procurement of building supplies, we have the ability to provide these products and services on demand.

FlowSense provides total building maintenance operations at federal courthouses, social security buildings, border stations, and on military bases. Our staff includes highly trained custodians, groundskeepers, and building maintenance mechanics who have been through intensive background checks.

We offer a wide range of construction services including mechanical, electrical, and general contracting. As construction managers, our professional field staff have many years of combined experience in terms of knowledge, safety and budget management to support every conceivable phase of construction through out the United States.

FedBizSupply, a premier online wholesale business unit of FlowSense, offers a broad range of products in the maintenance, repair, improvement and construction markets with on demand shipping access to over 900 locations throughout the United States.
